Royal Reveries of M. Quad. In an epistle published in the Detroit Free Press, M. Quad observes: If I should mount a throne I believe that I would run this king business entirely different from the manner in which it is now conducted. I think the throne of Spain would suit me, and I haven't any doubts that I would just suit the Spanish after a few trials. If I didn't it would be because they couldn't appreciate the handsome thing. Besides having oysters and hot biscuit three times a day, I should make a change in the matter of cookery. If any hotel keeper went to serving out hash under a French title two lines long, I would give him a little law that he'd never forget. Soups should be put down on the bills as soups, and if any waiter brought in thirteen napkins and a small bit of beef as the whole of a man's dinner, I'd have my prime minister make the fellow chew napkins all the rest of his life. And, when a traveller came to settle his bill, and the proprietor went to arguing the three-dollar-per-day idea, I should send for that landlord and ask him if he wouldn't be content if he had three or four national banks rolled in behind the desk, and tell him he could keep no tavern in Spain, not while I was around. As for the clerk, if he were like some that I know of, his lamenting twenty-four hours after I was crowned king. There's another thing that I have often thought of. I'd take little railroad excursions, carrying along a fair to medium trunk; and I'd watch the baggage smashers. When they put the trunk off, and I found that both handles were off, the lock broken, the lid split, the hinges bent, the ends knocked in, I'd say: "See here my fine fellow, I want to see you at my office on a little private business. He'd naturally think of the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the red ribbon and the iron medal, but he'd change his mind when he saw the dangling rope and the gallows. He'd never smash another trunk, not in Spain. As for ticket agents at the depots, I should first give them warning. I'd enlighten them a little by informing them they could make just as many friends, and do just as much business, and have the road just as well thought of, by returning civil answers to travellers and by treating men and women as people ought to be treated. I'd tell him once, and if he didn't concur with my sentiments. why, there'd be a good many friends around inquiring for him next day.

There's another thing I'd do for Spain.

relative would be dividing up the estate within

First, I'd issue the following call: "SPECIAL NOTICE.—Every Spanish gentleman who desires to hold a fat office, with big pay and stealings atttached, will please meet at my office on the 1st of February.

They'd come. They'd come in wagons, carts, wheelbarrows, on canal boats, by rail-roads, balloons—they'd come riding on each other's backs if there was no other conveyance. There would be a few respectable men hanging around, and I'd fix every one of them up with a pair of cow hide boots, soles four inches thick. I'd call the crowd in, one by one, and after a short address on the subject of the general desire to hold a very little office for a great deal of pay, I'd turn the gentlemen around, give a word to the kickers-well they could call around some other time if they wanted any more

About woman's rights I think I should have something to say about that. I'd get a list of the females who are gallivanting around Spain howling for their rights, and I'd invite them to call on me, adding that I favored woman's rights very much. They'd call—they'd be on hand before daylight. If there were thirteen of them, I'd have thirteen mops handy, and the way these thirteen "righters" should handle these thirteen mops would make the splinters fly. Of course I would not seek to degrade a lady in any way, but the mop was patented before woman's rights, and somehow I never think of woman's rights without also seeming to see a pair of pantaloons swinging in the air before me.

MORE THAN "HALF C'S OVER." - A wretched human being, by some mysterious dispensation of Providence, on the outer side of a lunatic asylum, inflicts upon the Detroit Post two columns of matter, every word of which begins with C. It is entitled: "Cæsar Common's California Chronicle Concerning Congressman Cuthlewaite's Convivialities-Constant Culpepper's Courtship-Clementina's

E LEGANT HAIR adds a charm to the plainest face; but when faded, features before agreeable lose their comeliness, and the whole expression is that of advancing age. This being a fact, it is not surprising that even injurious articles should have been prepared to supply the millions who wish to avoid premature gray hair. Under these circumstances it will scarcely be wondered at that NATTANS' CRYSTAL DIS-COVERY should have met with such extraordinary snecess. It is the only preparation furnishing a safe and reliable restorer for the bair; absolutely free from all poisonous and deleterious matter and without sediment, and thousands above thousands have availed themselves of it, not simply because it restores the color of the hair, but because it supplies nourishment. It feeds the roots of the hair, so that where decayed it becomes vigorous and healthy again. From all sections of the country orders and testimonials are received daily, speaking in the highest terms of its qualidaily, speaking in the highest terms of its qualities as the only preparation that ever gave entire satisfaction. Those who have used CRYSTAL DISCOVERY will not use any thing else; but to those who have not tried this excellent article it is recommended that when they are again in want of something of the kind to give it a trial; you will be more than pleased; you will be delighted with it, and will never again be without it. Don't let your druggist, if he has not got CRYSTAL DISCOVERY persuade you to buy something else, or you will be disappointed; rather go where you can get it put up in large bottles, containing half as much more as any other in market and, consequently much the cheapest. Price one dollar. For sale by WAR-FIELD & HALL, and druggists generally. mar 8-tf
